

Week 4 Writing Prompts:

- Place your string on the ground and write what you see in those six inches
- Fold your string in half, point the ends to you and the apex away from you, now write: When I return...
- Lay your string in a window, put your eye on one end of the string and sight down the length of the string so that the focus of your vision is down the length of the string, now write: There is a world just out of view...
- Weave your string under and over the fingers in your writing hand. Now write: I can't let go of...
- Lay your string across a threshold of a window or a door. Now write: Beyond this place...
- Lay your string across a threshold of a window or a door. Now write: Within this place...
- Put your string away. It has done its work. You have done its work. Now write: Thank you, dearest string, for showing me...

Week 4	Day 1	Day 2	Day 3	Day 4	Day 5	Day 6	Day 7
Go for a slow walk
Start your ten minute warning
Fill out Daily Card
Daily Reading Annie Dillard, "Total Eclipse"
Write for allotted time
Set up writing space for tomorrow (especially if it will be on the go)

Free Writing Instructions:

- Sit down
- Write your prompt at the top of your paper
- Set your writing timer
- Take three deep breaths
- Write through your timer without stopping